A Note from Our President

STRETCH! No, not those jeans that no longer seem to go around your waist, not those old comfortable socks, not those dollars in your checkbook. STRETCH those neurons, synapses, and dendrites that are vital parts of your brain tissue.

Brain research confirms that when you stay on the road of continuous learning throughout your life and couple the journey with ongoing social relationships, you are a more focused and healthier person.

Where can you find the road of continuous learning? There are more than 300 of them waiting for you at the Adult School! Come grow your brain. Take a course, take two or three.
