What our students are saying...

"My wife spotted a stone carving course in the Glen Echo Park catalogue a decade ago and, soon after, we were hooked. Directly manipulating stone with hammer and chisel has a visceral quality that appeals to me; there is something deeply satisfying about practicing such an ancient art form. Nizette Brennan is a master carver and sculptor and has taught us an enormous amount about process and form. The other students in the sculpture studio have become good friends and have challenged me to

A Note from the National Park Service

Welcome to Glen Echo Park. This is an exciting year for the National Park Service (NPS) as it celebrates its Centennial. This 100th anniversary is a defining moment, offering an opportunity to reflect on and celebrate our accomplishments as we prepare for a new century of stewardship and engagement. The NPS has set forth a Call to Action, a national effort to rally employees and partners to advance a shared vision for 2016 and the next 100 years (www.nps.gov/calltoaction). It describes specific goals and measurable actions that chart a new direction for the NPS as it enters its second century. One of the goals—Arts Afire—is to showcase our parks to new audiences through dance, music, visual arts, and writing. Glen Echo Park is a premier place to explore these opportunities.

We hope your experience here is enjoyable, whether you visit to attend a show, festival or dance, to have a picnic, or to take a class in any of the dozens of art forms that are studied here. As you enjoy the atmosphere of Glen Echo Park, please also take a moment to experience the beauty of the park and think about its place in American history.

If these walls could talk they would speak of excitement and fun experienced by people of all ages over many decades. Visitors left their cares at the front gate and enjoyed thrilling rides like the Coaster Dips, the Gyroplane, the Ferris wheel, and the beloved carousel. During the Great Depression and both World Wars, people did that and more at Glen Echo Amusement Park. They danced Swing in the Spanish Ballroom and rode the streetcar back into the city to face the world again. If these walls could talk they would also speak of courageous citizens who protested the amusement park's segregation policy and ultimately won the fight to open the park to all in 1961.

Experience a park tour to explore more about the site as it was experienced in these eras (see page 94).

Brent O'Neill, North District Supervisory Ranger

Glen Echo Park

Glen Echo Park is one of the finest cultural resources in Montgomery County. It is home to 14 resident artists and organizations, a thriving social dance program, a restored 1921 Dentzel Carousel, numerous art studios and galleries, and hundreds of classes in visual and performing arts, including ceramics, painting, photography, glass, music, dance, and more. These activities, as well as free summer concerts, festivals, and special events, bring thousands of visitors to the Park each year.

The site was first developed in the 1890s as a Chautauqua retreat but soon became the premier Washington area amusement park, serving the community until 1968. In 1971, after the amusement park closed, the federal government acquired the land in order to preserve the Potomac Palisades and prevent development along the river. The management of the Park was assigned to the National Park Service, which established the core of the current arts program. In 2002, the National Park Service transferred management of the Park's arts and cultural programs, as well as its historic buildings, to Montgomery County, which in turn created the Glen Echo Park Partnership for Arts and Culture, a new nonprofit, to oversee the Park.

From 2003 to 2010, extensive renovations of the Park's facilities took place under the direction of Montgomery County and the National Park Service with input from the Partnership and resident organizations. These renovations were funded with major federal, state, and county resources as well as private donations. Renovations included the Spanish Ballroom, the Dentzel Carousel, the Puppet Co. Playhouse, the Arcade building, the Yellow Barn, Adventure Theatre, the Candy Corner, the Chautauqua Tower, the Ballroom Back Room, and the Caretaker's Cottage. The Hall of Mirrors Dance Studio was renovated in 2014.

The Young Creative Spirit Katherine T. Andrle www.youngcreativespirit.org

The Young Creative Spirit is the Children's Art Center residency at Glen Echo Park. Coordinated by artist/ instructor Katherine T. Andrle, and assisted by instructors Denise Dittmar and Ivi Bradley, the center's goal is to serve the community by providing art instruction to children and to broaden their appreciation of the world by giving them an outlet for creative expression. Every child has both a tremendous visual awareness of the world outside and a wonderfully imaginative inner eye. The program encourages children to trust in their own interpretations and uses a wide variety of media to expand their experience. Small classes, taught in the Crystal Pool Studio, serve ages 4 through 12 and focus on the individual. Early registration is strongly encouraged.

CHILDREN'S PUPPETRY

Performances

MAIN STAGE PRODUCTIONS

Rapunzel

September 16-October 9 Fridays at 11:00am, Saturdays and Sundays at 11:30am and 1:00pm Performance Time: 40 minutes Age Recommendation: 3-9 years old American Sign Language Interpretation: October 2, 2016, 1:00pm performance

A "bewitching" tale by Duane T. Bowers, adapted from the Brothers Grimm fairytale. Witch Wartsmith wants a baby, and after bargaining for little Rapunzel, must go to great lengths to keep her out of the hands of a handsome prince. The Puppet Co. uses "coloringbook" charm and the simplicity of hand puppets in a production designed to delight its younger audiences.

Hansel & Gretel

October 13-November 18 Thursdays and Fridays at 11:00am, Saturdays and Sundays at 11:30am and 1:00pm Performance Time: 40 minutes Age Recommendation: 4 years old-Adult American Sign Language Interpretation: October 23, 2016, 1:00pm performance

A marionette adaptation of Humperdink's children's opera, full of magic, music and dazzling special effects. The puppets were created by veteran puppetmaster Allan Stevens. The production has long been a favorite of children and their parents, and is an excellent introduction to musical story telling for children.

The Nutcracker

November 25-December 30 For specific performance times and dates see our online calendar. Performance Time: 50 minutes Age Recommendation: 5 years old-Adult

Closed: December 24 & 25

The Nutcracker is the story of Clara-Marie's favorite toy, and their adventures together in the Land of the Sugarplum Fairy. Music from Tchaikovsky's famous ballet blends with marionettes and costumed characters to create this unique production. 2016 is the 28th Anniversary of this wildly popular show. Don't miss it!

Goldilocks!

January 20-February 19 Thursdays and Fridays at 11:00am, Saturdays and Sundays at 11:30am and 1:00pm Performance Time: 40 minutes Age Recommendation: 3-9 years old American Sign Language Interpretation: February 5, 2017, 1:00pm performance

Goldilocks is on trial, and it's up to the audience to decide whether or not it was breaking-and-entering or an innocent mistake. This musical romp illustrates that there are two sides to every story, with the same circumstances seen from very different points of view. Told with rod puppets and giant hand puppets, this production keeps the audience guessing while including all the favorite elements of the classic children's fairytale.

TINY TOTS PROGRAM

Our Tiny Tots @ 10:00 Program offers shows and a viewing atmosphere especially suited to our youngest theater patrons (ages 2–4 years old) and their parents/ caregivers. ## J. Jordan Bruns Studio 301.634.5379 www.jjbruns.com

J. Jordan Bruns was born in Cincinnati, Ohio, but has lived in 13 different locations around the United States ranging from Nashville, Tennessee to Maui, Hawaii. He attended the Maryland Institute College of Art (MICA) where he continued to travel abroad while he obtained a BFA in both painting and illustration. While at MICA, he worked with watercolors and traditional oils, specializing in story illustration and portraiture. After earning his undergraduate degree, he embarked on a road trip across the United States spanning 45 states over an 8 month time period painting landscapes from the trunk of his car. His exhibitions have been viewed across the United States from a solo show in the Indiana University Art Museum to SCOPE Miami during Art Basel week. He currently works as the resident artist in the Chautauqua Tower as well as an instructor for The Yellow Barn Studio and Gallery.

J. Jordan Bruns' work can be viewed on the second and third floors of the Chautauqua Tower, adjacent to the Yellow Barn, in Glen Echo Park. As a resident artist, he creates large-scale paintings and drawings that play with themes of balance, movement, and surface. His work often starts as nothing more than splashed paint or smeared graphite; and, as he described it, he sometimes finds himself 'poking and prodding the work's surface in hopes of coaxing some sort of image out of the cacophony. Slowly but surely, the dramatic hidden world comes forth.'

Saturday and Sunday-11:00 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. or by appointment 301.634.5379.

Center

at Glen Echo 301.634.2273 www.artglasscenteratglenecho.org

"THE PATH" BY JANET WITTENBERG; PHOTO: GREG STALEY The Art Glass Center at Glen Echo is a school, a resource center, and a gallery for kilnformed glass that serves the Washington metropolitan area. The Center is directed by artists-in-residence who are committed to both teaching and creating. These artists, plus other professional glass artists, offer a variety of classes for beginning, intermediate and advanced students/artists. Classes offered include basic and advanced fused glass techniques, kiln casting, jewelry, and Venetian glass beadmaking.

The Center holds exhibits each year featuring the glass art of emerging artists, studio artists, faculty and students. The Art Glass Center Gallery presents a variety of functional and sculptural fused glass pieces produced by the faculty at the Center. These pieces showcase many of the techniques that are taught in the studio, and are available for purchase.

The Art Glass Center's Studio and Gallery are open to the public Friday, 10am to 2pm, Saturday, 10am to 4pm, Sunday, noon to 4pm, during Open Studio sessions, and by appointment (call 301.634.2273 or email info@artglasscenteratglenecho.org). Additional information on the AGC can be found at our website: www.artglasscenteratglenecho.org.

Most kilnforming classes have an additional date arranged for the pickup of projects. All classes are taught at the Arcade Art Glass Studio.

About the Glen Echo Park Partnership for Arts and Culture

The Glen Echo Park Partnership for Arts and Culture, Inc. manages one of the liveliest visual and performing arts sites in the Washington area. Each year, more than 400,000 people come together at Glen Echo Park to renew their creative spirit through classes, festivals, exhibitions, dances, children's theater, music performances, nature programs, and more.

Established by Montgomery County in 2002, the Partnership is a nonprofit organization charged with managing Glen Echo Park's programs and facilities. # Dentzel Carousel

April 30-August 28: Wed-Fri, 10am to 2pm Sat & Sun, 12pm to 6pm September 1-25: Sat & Sun, 12pm to 6pm Hours subject to change. See glenechopark.org for current hours.

One of the greater Washington area's true treasures, the historic Glen Echo Park Dentzel carousel is in its 96th year. The carousel is the Park's crowning jewel from the amusement park era. Installed at Glen Echo Park in 1921, the canopy and the carved animals were made by the Dentzel Carousel Company of Germantown, Pennsylvania. It remains a classic example of hand woodcarving popular during the early years of the 20th century. The 20-year restoration of the carousel was completed in 2003, and the carousel building was refurbished and repainted in 2005 as part of park-wide renovations under the direction of Montgomery County and the National Park Service, with additional funding from the State of Maryland. We completed significant repairs to the carousel's band organ in 2011.

Enjoy the carousel on these additional days and nights: Thursday evenings, June 16 through August 25,

Summer Concerts (7pm to 9pm) Monday, September 5, Labor Day (12pm to 6pm) Friday, September 9, Glen Echo Fire Dept. Bingo Night (7pm to 9pm)

Dance Events

Spanish Ballroom, Bumper Car Pavilion, and Ballroom Back Room

www.glenechopark.org/social-dances

All social dances are open to the public, for all ages, with no prior experience or partner required. New dancers are very welcome, and a pre-dance, introductory lesson is included. Most of the dances feature live music by renowned local and national bands. Cost varies from $5– $20 depending on the dance presenter and the occasion. Dress is casual, and "layers" are recommended because two of the dance halls are neither heated nor air-conditioned. Outside alcohol is prohibited on Park grounds, and smoking is strictly prohibited in all Park structures.

Dances take place year-round and occur regularly on Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays, and Sundays, with occasional midweek dances. Frequently, two or three different dances are presented at the same time, one in each dance hall, offering greater diversity to the public. For a schedule of the social dance program, see the dance calendars in this section.

Dances are subject to change, and new dances are added, so visit glenechopark.org for the latest information. See the following monthly calendars for our current schedule.

Thursday Night Dances

Junior Ranger Programs

The National Park Service offers five different ways for kids to become junior rangers. Booklets are available at the Glen Echo Park office. Two programs are available online at: www.nps.gov/clba.

During Your Visit Enjoy These Activities:

George Washington Memorial Parkway Junior Ranger Booklet: This booklet contains activities about Clara Barton NHS and Glen Echo Park. Kids can earn two badges.

Civil Rights Junior Ranger Booklet: Kids can learn how history was made by students and local neighbors during the 1960 Civil Rights Protests at Glen Echo Amusement Park.

Glen Echo Lil' Junior Ranger Booklet: Perfect for ages 3-6 years, this Lil' Junior Ranger booklet contains age-appropriate activities that offer our youngest visitors a chance to explore the park. If they complete all the activities, they can earn a Glen Echo Park Junior Ranger badge! Available upon request at the Ranger Station.

Traveling Clara Barton: Similar to a "Flat Stanley" activity, kids mail (or bring) a drawing of Miss Barton to six different Civil War sites and discover how she helped soldiers. Clara Barton National Historic Site Virtual Tour and Interactive Educational Activities: Students in Grades 2 and up can complete online activities about Miss Barton and earn a Web Ranger badge.

National Park Service Centennial Celebration Event Saturday, August 27th

The National Park Service is celebrating its Centennial this year. Join us as we take a stroll through the last 100 years. See Park Rangers don vintage uniforms in an exclusive NPS fashion show, admire antique cars, and listen to musical performances in the historic Spanish Ballroom and Bumper Car Pavilion. View and learn from historic images and create a one of a kind work with our arts and crafts tables. It will be a truly memorable day that only comes once every 100 years!

Glen Echo Park 301.320.1400 www.nps.gov/glec

For over a century, Glen Echo Park has welcomed residents of the Greater Washington Area to an ever-changing venue of activities. The history of constant change though, has led to tension as Chautauqua dreamers, amusement park thrill seekers, and National Park Service preservationists sought to adapt to the needs of current visitors. This affected not only the architectural styles of the buildings, but also the landscape—everything from walkways to parking lots to lighting.

Edward and Edwin Baltzley in 1891 hoped to entertain and educate the District's urban populace in a National Chautauqua while preserving the site's rugged natural beauty. The amusement park owners thrilled visitors with exciting rides. Finally, the National Park Service and the Glen Echo Park Partnership for Arts and Culture have collaborated to provide the public with appealing artist studios and living arts spaces while preserving the park's diverse history.

NPS works closely with the Glen Echo Park Partnership to preserve the cultural resources at Glen Echo Park. Over the years, this has involved determining whether to preserve, rehabilitate, restore, or reconstruct historic structures. After 120 years, all that remains from the Baltzley's Chautauqua of 1891 is a solitary stone tower which is now the restored stone tower, home to the Stone Tower Gallery and Jordan Bruns' studio (see pages 85 and 43). But their idea of a premier green space where visitors could refresh and restore themselves has thrived as a vibrant cultural community to this day.

Ranger-Led Programs

Tours are free of charge and open to the public. All programs can be modified for a special need or specific age group. Tours are available by advanced reservation.

Clara Barton National Historic Site 301.320.1410 www.nps.gov/clba

"Clara Barton didn't just dream, she did things, noble things that establish her as one of the most impactful women on the lives of others in all of American history."–Robin Fisher, Participant, Clara Barton Symposium

From her Civil War work to the founding of the American Red Cross, Clara Barton dedicated her life to the relief of suffering. She was the driving force of the American Red Cross for 23 years. Her leadership gave the organization a solid reputation that garnered support and trust. Her influence led to the creation of programs that continue to benefit and support people in need today.

Clara Barton National Historic Site is closed in order to complete a project to preserve the historic house by rehabilitating the failing metal roof and other interior improvements. The house will be closed through the fall of 2016. Reopening is expected in 2017. For more information please visit our website. During the house closure offsite programs can be scheduled in advance. Please call for more details, 301.320.1410.

Interpretive Programs

During the period Clara Barton National Historic Site is closed for preservation work interpretive programs will be offered offsite at schools and at other venues. Please call 301.320.1410 to make a reservation.

Clara Barton-Angel of the Battlefield

Miss Barton wrote: "My business is stanching blood and feeding fainting men; my post the open field between the bullet and the hospital." The Civil War set Miss Barton on a path of service, one where she endured some of the same terrible conditions and extreme dangers as the soldiers. This path took Miss Barton to Antietam, where she worked as the battle raged around her. At the battle of Fredericksburg she was the only woman working at the front! This illustrated talk by a park ranger from Clara Barton National Historic Site will use photos from the Civil War era to explore the dangers Clara Barton faced and the accomplishments she achieved. This free program is available for groups of ten or more at Clara Barton National Historic Site or at off-site locations in the Washington D.C. metro area. To make reservations, call: 301.320.1407.

-Robin Fisher, Participant, Clara Barton Symposium

Clara Barton-An American Life

How did a shy girl, born on a New England farm in 1821 break through the barriers that so often confined women to the domestic sphere? How did she go on to have a sixtyyear career of public service that touched people all over the world? What gave this woman the courage to go to the battlefields during the American Civil War, a place women did not go? How did she go on to found the American Red Cross, an organization that still helps people in need today? This illustrated talk by a park ranger from Clara Barton National Historic Site will use photographs from Clara Barton's time to consider these questions and to bring the story of her remarkable career to life.

This free hour-long program is available for groups of ten or more at Clara Barton National Historic Site. It is also available at off-site locations in the Washington D.C. metro area. To make reservations or to learn more, call: 301.320.1407.
