GROUNDS FOR SCULPTURE Wednesday, Oct. 13

John Seward Johnson, sculptor and philanthropist, founded the sculpture garden and museum in Hamilton on the former N.J. State Fairgrounds. In a true garden fashion, the sculptures of American artists and world renowned sculptors are placed throughout the grounds. Sculpture groupings illustrating well-know paintings are a delight to see. In addition to more than 250 whimsical, playful, contemplative works on the grounds there is an indoor art gallery featuring rotating exhibits throughout the year. Lunch will be at the highly-rated RATS Restaurant located on the grounds (The name was chosen by Johnson to immortalize his favorite character from "Wind in the Willows"). Register by Sept. 28.

Course: 0166. Fee: $99. Wednesday, Oct. 13, 9 a.m.-5 p.m.

Our luxury bus will leave promptly from the Maplewood Community Pool parking lot on Boyden Avenue, Maplewood, where you may park for the day.

HOUDINI: ART and MAGIC Friday, Dec. 3

Houdini, the master magician and escape artist, is revealed at The Jewish Museum through his magic apparatus, posters, photographs and archival films. It has been called extraordinary that an immigrant Jew who made it into the mainstream, became a popular phenomenon in the 19th century, fell from fame in 20th century public culture, and has become a muse for 21st century artists. Lunch will be included as will another current exhibit at the museum. Register by Nov. 19.

Course: 0168. Fee: $88. Friday, Dec. 3, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Our bus will leave promptly from the Maplewood Community Pool parking lot on Boyden Avenue, Maplewood, where you may park for the day.

THE BARNES FOUNDATION & WOODFORD MANSION Thursday, Nov. 4

The Barnes Foundation is moving from its mansion home in Merion, Pa., to downtown Philadelphia. The present site is one not to be missed. This world-renowned collection of Albert Barnes includes many works by Renoir, Cezanne, Matisse, Picasso, Degas, VanGogh, Seraut, Manet and Monet. After lunch we will visit Woodford House located in Philadelphia's Fairmont Park. Register by Oct. 15

Course: 0167. Fee: $110. Thursday, Nov. 4, 9 a.m.-5 p.m. Our bus will leave promptly from the Columbia High School parking lot located on West Parker Avenue, Maplewood, between Gleason Cleaners and the RR overpass.
