FINDING A PLACE IN THE SCHOOL CAFETERIA: RACE AND IDENTITY IN ADOLESCENCE

Friday, November 20

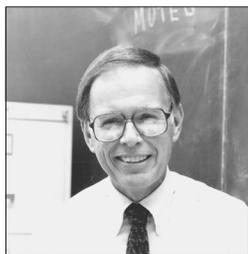

Periods 8 & 9, by invitation

JOANNA LEE
WILLIAMS
CHS Class of 1993

An associate professor in the Curry School of Education's Department of Leadership, Foundations, and Policy at the University of Virginia, and a faculty affiliate with Youth Nex: The UVA Center to Promote Effective Youth Development, Williams recently began working on a five-year study of the benefits and challenges of ethnic diversity in middle schools.

This showcase was created to celebrate Don Hamingson's love of the written word and his teaching experience. Mr. Hamingson, the late director emeritus of the Adult School, was a highly regarded teacher of English at Columbia High School for 35 years.

This program is presented by The South Orange-Maplewood Adult School in cooperation with the CHS English Department.
